IMPORTANT ALERT: RESPONSE TO EMAILED BOMB THREATS

A number of organizations, including many health care and financial organizations, nationwide have reported receiving emails that state that an explosive device has been brought into the recipient's facility and will be detonated unless a ransom is paid in Bitcoin. Law enforcement authorities are investigating; however, at this point, no explosive devices have been found. Law enforcement authorities have recommended diligence and immediate reports to local law enforcement of any suspicious activities that might present a threat to public safety.
