GENERAL BUSINESS TRANSACTIONS & SERVICES

Hall Render attorneys have diverse and extensive experience in representing individuals, partnerships, limited liability companies and corporations in a wide variety of business ventures. We have helped many clients in the health care industry, such as hospitals, hospital systems, physicians and physicians' groups, long-term care facilities and other for-profit and nonprofit entities.

Our attorneys regularly counsel clients on matters such as organization, financing and operation of business enterprises, joint ventures, reorganizations and dissolutions. We have also counseled clients on a wide array of mergers and acquisitions, ranging from the consolidation of several large health care systems to the acquisition of one medical practice by another.

Hall Render's attorneys provide a wide range of securities law compliance services. Securities law compliance issues arise whenever a business entity desires to make an initial offering of ownership interests or issue additional shares to new or existing owners of the entity. We are able to determine whether state or federal securities laws apply to certain transactions and to assist closely held business clients in qualifying for the various securities laws exemptions and in the preparation of private placement memoranda, other disclosure documents and filings with state and federal securities regulation authorities. With extensive experience in assisting highly regulated entities, such as ambulatory surgery centers, we are familiar with the securities laws when offering ownership to investors.
